

HUGHES GETS WARM RECEPTION AT RIO

Secretary Saluted by Many Ships and Forts as Vessel Arrives.

GIVES FRIENDLY MESSAGE

Recalls Don Pedro's Visit to U. S. in Statement to Press.

By the Associated Press.
RIO JANEIRO, September 6.—Guns boomed from the warships of eight nations when the U. S. S. Maryland entered the harbor of Rio Janeiro yesterday afternoon carrying the American mission to the Brazilian centennial, headed by Secretary of State Hughes.

The steamship Pan-America, which brought Mr. Hughes from New York, overtook the Maryland and the Nevada just before arriving at the entrance to the harbor, where the Secretary and his party were transferred to the Maryland.

Four Brazilian destroyers, taking up positions on either side of the two American battleships, escorted them into the harbor, where the water was surrounded by towering mountains which makes Rio famous as a beauty spot.

The Maryland anchored in the midst of an international fleet and exchanged salutes in which the harbor forts joined.

The vessels represented Great Britain, Italy, Portugal, Argentina, Uruguay, Mexico and Brazil.

Mexican Salute Returned.
Although the United States has not recognized the Mexican government, the gunboat flying the Mexican flag saluted and the Nevada returned the salute by order of the Secretary of State, who told Admiral Jones that diplomatic technicalities should be waived since both vessels were in a friendly harbor.

A delegation of Brazilian officials, accompanied by American Ambassador Morgan, visited the Maryland and welcomed the newcomers. After this Secretary Hughes and his party boarded a launch, which conveyed them to the arsenal.

Here were drawn up committees of Americans, who cheered the Secretary. There also was a crowd of Brazilians and a crack regiment of Brazilian marines, which saluted, while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Hughes party was then driven to the Guanabara Palace, their official residence.

Mr. Hughes later was driven to the Itamaraty Palace, where he presented his credentials to Foreign Minister Marques. The Secretary rested last evening and today was scheduled to call on President Pessoa.

Secretary's Program.
The Secretary's program during the six days of his visit includes attendance at the opening of the centennial exposition on Thursday, and two dinners to be given by President Pessoa and the Brazilian government to Mr. Hughes and the special ambassadors of the other countries. He will also attend a reception by the American colony and will dedicate the site of the monument which the Americans plan to give Brazil as a memorial.

On his arrival Mr. Hughes gave a lengthy statement to the Brazilian press referring to the friendship between Brazil and the United States and recalling the visit of Dom Pedro II to the American centennial in 1876, and the fact that he is returning that visit on behalf of President Harding.

BODY-RUB LIQUOR'S POWERFUL "KICK" TAKES HEAVY TOLL

"An alarming rate of deaths" in Chicago from body-rub liquor was reported today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes on his return from an official survey of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

The stuff seems to be stopping respiration and the gasping victims die of "suffocation," the commissioner said.

"Inexperienced operators," said Mr. Haynes, "in attempts to withdraw poisonous ingredients from rubbing compounds and wood alcohol only partially succeed, and the dangerous product, containing concentrated lye, etc., is not only bottled in fraudulently labeled bottles, but is injected into near-beer. Drinking of this has developed a new disease, according to hospital officials, wherein respiration is interrupted and victims die of suffocation."

A Square Deal.

FLIES ACROSS U. S. WITHIN 22 HOURS

Lieut. Doolittle Completes One-Step Dash Across Continent.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., September 6.—Having eaten today his first breakfast since starting his air dash from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific, Lieut. James H. Doolittle, Army aviator, who late yesterday completed his flight here from Jacksonville, Fla., in record time, was busy with plans for his next flying task. He has been instructed to report for duty at McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, and plans to fly there, starting Friday, in the specially constructed De Havilland plane, which brought him here from the Atlantic coast well within twenty-four hours.

Lieut. Doolittle showed no signs that he was worried about his new task, and according to the rules of the flying game he ought not to be anxious about it, for he has plenty of time to make the flight and intends to take it in easy stages, instead of with only one stop, as on his flight from ocean to ocean yesterday.

Not Intimidated With Worry.

He is remembered here as one of those not in the habit of worrying, for in the famous airplane flight of November 28, 1918, when 212 airplanes took the air here at one time to celebrate the ending of the war, Doolittle led a quintet of "stunt" flyers, who put on every act then known in aerial daring, flying so closely to the flagstaff on a tall hotel as to almost scrape it and then soaring into the air, only to stage some equally thrilling spectacle. It was common, though unofficial, report at the time that Doolittle and his team had to be ordered to quit that day, for they kept on performing for hours.

Doolittle showed much of that enthusiasm when he landed here just before dusk yesterday. The most apparent feature on his arrival and his landing, perfectly accomplished, after a grind of more than twenty-one hours in the air, was a wholesome boyish grin.

Bath Tub Interview.

That grin lasted until he "submitted" to an interview, which was obtained while he was taking a warm bath. The reporter sat on the edge of the bath tub.

Doolittle told of his start of running into a storm, how he scudded west, how glad he was to see two fellow aviators meet him at Imperial valley, Calif., and of the landing. Lieut. Doolittle made an average of about 101 miles an hour.

When he reached Imperial valley and saw the two pacemakers from Rockwell Field—Capt. William Randolph and Lieut. C. L. Webber—waiting to accompany him on the last lap he "opened up wide" his liberty motor and came at a speed estimated at 115 miles an hour.

Coroner's Jury Exonerates Operator of Auto That Killed Child.

Charles Arthur Swann, charged with killing George Helms, four years old, while operating an automobile on September 2, was exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury at the District morgue. Swann was represented by Attorney Thomas Beckert of the firm of Beckert, Clarke & McIntosh.

The child, a son of Policeman George Helms, was instantly killed on D street, between 12th and 13th streets northeast, in front of the family home. The evidence showed that the child ran directly in front of the moving automobile, and neighbors who saw the accident testified that Swann did everything possible to avoid striking the child.

WILSON GETS GREETINGS OF ARKANSAS DEMOCRATS

State Convention Wires Felicitations and Renews Faith in Immortal Ideals.

By the Associated Press.
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., September 6.—At the state democratic convention in session here a special committee, headed by Gov. McRae, was named to extend greetings to former President Woodrow Wilson.

The message sent to Mr. Wilson was as follows:
"The democratic party of Arkansas, in convention assembled, extends to you cordial greetings and felicitations on your life of continued usefulness. We believe that the principles which you so ably advocated as President are immortal and we express the earnest hope that they will be vindicated in your lifetime."

On a roll call of the meeting by counties one member from each county repeated a pledge that the full quota would be obtained for Arkansas democrats' fund of $20,000 to help the fight for congressional increases in doubtful states.

A New Sense of Freedom

In Cantilever Shoes you walk with a new sense of freedom, a new lifting step, a new rhythmic swing of the weight from one foot to the other. Gone is the vise-like restriction of stiff soles, gone is the weariness due to distorted feet and poor posture, gone are the aches and pains of fallen arches. Health and comfort walk in the Cantilever Shoe.

DESIGNED FOR COMFORT

The last is patterned from the outline of the foot. The natural inner sole line provides room for the toes and allows them to point straight ahead. This and the well-set heel encourage correct posture. In Cantilevers the weight is distributed so that there is no strain on the arch of the foot.

And the shank of the shoe flexes! With every step the shoe yields with the foot. The muscles have free play, they exercise and grow strong. Cantilevers correct and prevent flat foot because they strengthen the muscles that surround and uphold the small bones of the arch.

Trim oxfords in several leathers and in white linen; also high shoes and pumps.
